the House, the gentleman might excuse himself ernment tree to follow the Demogratic will, or because no member is required to serve upon a National Bink, and a Government and people more than two committees - He edded, that no under the dominion of the party of privilege. The question is one of inagnitude, of inimense bearings; a jugather more an that which induced our fathers to take up arms against the Mesers. Grennell and Dawson opposed the mother country. There is a deeper principle involved in the question now at issue, than in that of the duty of three period pound on the which our fathers refused to pay. If we had lailed in our efforts to resist foreign taxation, we should have been externally enslaved; but if we fail in our efforts to resist the re chartering of a National Bank, and to secure the independent Treasury, we become enslaved both exter-nally and internally. [Boston Review.

We agree, in the main with the writer of this paragraph, so far as this -paragruph goes; nor was taken.
